

The world in 2024 is quickly moving toward the Third World War. The consequences of this war will help redraw the map of the world and determine the interests of nations:

The wars of Ukraine, Gaza, Iran and Taiwan are beginning of the clashes of World War III in 2024. These clashes will occur on geopolitical, geostrategic and geo-economics scales. In future, there will be significant changes in borders of countries and interests of nations. BRICS countries, led by Russia and China, on one side and Anglo-Saxon countries led by US and England, on the other side will take part in this World War III. In the Middle East, severe clashes between Iran and Israel will go all the way to use of technical nuclear weapons. The World War III, in the Middle East, will result in fall of regimes of Egypt, Iran and nuclear disarmament of Pakistan. The war will lead to preservation by US and Western countries of interests for Israel as a nuclear and victorious power in the Middle East. But China will also reach its interests in Taiwan. The Western countries will accept Taiwan's annexation by China and Russia adding half of Ukraine to its territory. The other half of Ukraine will be annexed by Western countries. Just like Germany, as a result of World War II, was separated by the Eastern and Western blocs, via the Berlin Wall, Ukraine will also be divided up between the two blocs following WWIII. In the Middle East, Israel will be declared by Western countries as the winner of an artificial war. A West-aligned government, similar to Reza Shah Pahlavi's era, will be created in Iran and a weak federal regime in Pakistan. The Kashmir issue will be solved in India's favor. The Turkic countries will be more united and a union of Turkic countries, or basically a new Ottoman Empire, will be created, led by Turkey. There will also be a Greater Pashtunistan led by Pakistan's Justice Movement (Imran Khan) and collaboration of the Taliban's Emirate and Baluch separatists. The areas of Greater Khorasan – the majority of whose population consists of Persian, Punjab, Tajik and Hazara peoples – will be divided up between the new Ottoman Empire and the Greater Pashtunistan state.

Pakistan, Tajikistan and Iran will become smaller; or totally eliminated from the map of the world. This analysis will come true if the Western countries turn WWIII in their favor.

But if Iran, Pakistan, Egypt, Russia, China, North Korea, countries of BRICS and resistance movements in the Middle East are able to turn the war in their favor, Iran will emerge as a new empire with two dimensions (religion and culture); Pakistan and Tajikistan will remain independent; the Middle Eastern war will end in favor of Palestinians and we will see an independent Palestinian country, centered on its famous capital, the holy Jerusalem; the role of Iran, Egypt and Turkey will be strengthened in the region; Russia will entirely annex Ukraine; China will entirely annex Taiwan and North Korea will annex South Korea.

The military bases of Western countries, led by the US, will be taken out of the Greater Middle East. US and Western countries will also end their military presence and bases in the South China Sea. Western countries, led by US, will also abandon their military bases in countries bordering Russia and will pull out their troops. The wall separating the blocs will be Turkey, the Mediterranean and Gibraltar. Our region will go back 150 years and will be once more akin to the time of two grand empires, Ottomans and Safavids. Americans will move some of their necessary bases from the Middle East to India and their bases from the Indian Ocean and countries on its shores to Japan. They will also move their bases from countries bordering Russia to Germany.

In 2024, the world will move toward polarization and the results that I predicted here will occur in 2025 until to 2030. The year 2024 will be a determining one for nations and countries of the world. In 2025 to 2030, we will see consequences of WWIII. If Western Bloc wins, we will see a unipolar world led by the US (England) and control of Russia and China for the next hundred years. If the Eastern Bloc wins, we will see a bipolar world led by China (Russia) on one side and US (England) on the other. In our Middle East, three (3) grand empires will be created, led by Turkey, Egypt and Iran.

In our country, Afghanistan, there will be no significant change in 2024 and 2025. There are two factors: one domestic, the other foreign. The foreign factor is the existence and establishment of geopolitical and geo-economics' relations of Taliban with Eastern and Western blocs. In their strategic relations, Taliban have created a soft and flexible policy, within the framework of political balance, technical collaboration and economic evolution, with both blocs. Whatever bloc wins, Taliban will keep their status in Afghanistan and the region. The domestic factors include lack of a strong political movement and powerful military front for the conscious and brave nation to challenge Taliban and establish itself as a genuine alternative to Taliban in the region and beyond. Has it not been created yet?!?! In addition to these two factors, Taliban's power has been very much strengthened by development of suicide ideology, ethnic prejudice and conquering of military, financial and institutional assets of the republic. Thus, this terroristic, suicidal and ethnic movement has been prolonged.

Note: If, political movements and military fronts abroad that oppose Taliban are able to genuinely come together; and if the nation of Afghanistan shows mental willingness and necessary bravery to start a revolution to bring down the Taliban, the result will surely be in favor of the nation of Afghanistan, especially our youth and the oppressed women of our dear country.

Important consideration: If God-fearing, professional, brave, patriotic and caring youth are put at the top of political and military opposition organizations abroad and inside Afghanistan, unity of thought and practice can be brought about in the fields of war and politics. Led by a purposeful and young organization, the Emirate of Taliban can be brought to an end. When the nation of Afghanistan, especially its youth, see with their eyes, hear with their ears, feel with their hearts and understand with their brains that things are led by militant, pious and caring youth, then all the nation in our dear country – working with conscious youth and honest and brave women – will help bring down the Taliban. Youth will find serious motivation; the Afghanistan nation will find endless hope; the oppressed women will find the epic courage to change and defeat Taliban. Inshallah, with the grace of God and prayers of the nation, we will (100%) hundred percent soon see the downfall of Taliban and formation of a popular and independent government in the near future.

From God, comes success
